GLADEVILLE -- With just over six weeks until the start of the 2010 season, the excitement is building for NASCAR's return to Nashville Superspeedway. For the first time in the 10-year history of the track, Nashville will host the NASCAR Camping World Truck Series and NASCAR Nationwide Series on the Easter weekend, April 2-3.

Fans can reserve great seats beginning today (Wednesday) at 8 a.m. by calling 866-RACE-TIX or by going online at www.NashvilleSuperspeedway.com . The April 2-3 weekend is stacked with on-track excitement, including NASCAR Camping World Truck practice, qualifying and a battle under the lights on Friday night, followed by NASCAR Nationwide Series qualifying and the race on Saturday afternoon.

The NASCAR Nationwide Series will return June 4-5 under the lights for the "Federated Auto Parts 300." The NASCAR Camping World Truck Series will also make a second stop in Nashville on Aug. 7 for a one-day show featuring practice, qualifying and the night race.

Race tickets start at $35 for NASCAR Camping World Truck Series races and $45 for NASCAR Nationwide Series races. Season tickets including all three race weekends are still available starting at $179 for adults and just $84 for kids 12 and under.

Season ticket packages include a premium reserved parking spot for each race day, the opportunity to drive on the track on "Season Ticket Holder Day" (scheduled for March 13), and a popular ALL ACCESS pass, among other amenities.

ALL ACCESS, the one-of-a-kind pass that allows fans up-close access to the NASCAR driver and crew chief pre-race meeting, pre-race access to Victory Lane, pit road, and the Fan Walk in between the garage and pit road is available for all Saturday NASCAR races at Nashville.
