

Perhaps bowing to tradition and customer service, Lebanon High School will offering reserved tickets for the 2012 football season at Watkins Stadium / Tribble Field after all. Several sections of chairback bench seating in the middle of the home side are now designated as reserved and will be available for $50 per ticket.

The decision to sell reserved season tickets was passed down from the Central Office Monday, July 30 -- reversing an earlier plan that would have made all seating in the facility general admission.

“There’s a pretty good number of fans who come early and tailgate,” said longtime LHS season ticket holder David Greer. “It’s good to know we’ll be able to socialize before the game and still have our seats waiting for us.”

Effective Tuesday, July 31 reserved seating, a $30 general admission season pass, as well as a new feature -- $25 reserved parking -- was on sale on a first come, first served basis. A discount package is available for fans who choose to buy both a reserved season ticket and a parking pass.

Lebanon’s home-opener is Friday, Aug. 24 against Franklin County -- the inaugural game at the new stadium. Other home opponents include: Wilson Central, Station Camp, Beech (homecoming, Oct. 19) and Hendersonville.

Tickets and parking passes will remain on sale between the hours of from 8 a.m. until 2 p.m. Monday through Friday. For information, call Cindy Climer at 444-9610, ext. 3203.

CU season tickets now on sale

Cumberland University Director of Athletics Ron Pavan announced season ticket and single-game ticket prices for the 2012 football campaign this week at the program’s new home, Nokes-Lasater Field off Tennessee Blvd.

Chairback seats (62) in front of the home press box will sell for $100 per for the 2012 season.

The Bulldogs play five home games this year, beginning Saturday, Sept. 8 against the University of the Cumberlands.

Other home games include contests vs. Belhaven, Union College, a night game with Campbellsville and Bluefield.

General admission prices for the 2012 season will cost $10 per game, with $8 tickets for senior citizens. Children 10 and under are admitted free for all Cumberland athletic events.

A season pass may also be purchased for $150, allowing fans general admission to all CU home events during 2012-2013 academic year.. For tickets, call Jo Jo Freeman at 615-547-1350. Credit cards will be accepted over the phone for payment.

FCS season tickets, preferred parking

Lebanon's Friendship Christian offers a $100 high school "Super Booster Pass" which includes admission and preferred parking for all home high school athletic events.

Also available is a $50 high school football pass which is good for general admission seating and preferred parking for all home high school football games.

For more information, visit www.friendshipchristian.org .

TOMMY BRYAN / tbryan@wilsonpost.com